Transform Their World

Wrapped in the warm embrace of the glorious Malvern Hills, our College is regarded as one of England's great independent schools. With an admired and distinguished history, Malvernians have helped to shape the modern world of science, sport, literature and the arts for generations.

Although we are a long way from 1865, when the College was founded, some things will never change. Our commitment to developing outstanding young people with the skills, resilience and initiative to flourish in a rapidly changing global landscape remains – all these years later – at the very heart of our approach, and our beliefs.

Our ongoing ambitions are underpinned by a sense of service which brings with it a responsibility to share still further the exceptional gift of a Malvern education. Extending our hand to more talented children regardless of their financial circumstances can only be achieved with your help, so I very much hope that you will consider joining us in our mission to transform lives.

Help us Extend our Support Even Further

For over 125 years the Malvernian Society has been supporting the development of the College. It has funded many of the buildings and facilities on the campus and offers a growing number of Assisted Places. To build on our rich heritage of philanthropy and to support our ethos that diversity benefits all within our community, we invite you to join us as we seek to nurture the talents of an even greater number of deserving children regardless of background.

If there was ever any doubt about the value of Assisted Places, then look no further than Amelia's and George's stories on pages 7 and 9. Our ambition is to raise £15 million over the next decade to enable talented children to attend the College through ten fully endowed Assisted Places.

Recipients of awards will be children with the spirit and determination to succeed at Malvern College but who also demonstrate academic potential or significant talent in areas such as sport, music, drama and art.

Amelia Scott

(Ellerslie House | 2018-present)

Five years ago, my brother joined the Sixth Form here at Malvern and constantly raved about how wonderful it was, but I never believed him! I joined Malvern on a sports scholarship - mainly for netball and it has opened lots of new sporting opportunities including learning to play hockey. I remember turning up to the scholarship day and staring blankly at the pile of hockey sticks in front of me and not a clue what to do. One of the coaches smiled at me and immediately swept me under their wing – that's when I knew Malvern was different.

Academically Malvern is incredible. The standard of teaching is first class but what I found different here was the constant support of the teachers, the after-school clinics for every subject and the way the teachers will go out of their way to help you with anything and everything. It's also the way all the teachers and coaches care so much for their pupils. My House is one of my favourite places at school and, being a full-time boarder, it honestly feels like a second home. I have met people from all around the world, learnt so much from them and created friendships that I hope will last a lifetime.

Malvern has opened my eyes to a whole different way of life and, coming from a local state school, this has given me a wider perspective of the world. I will always be grateful for the chance to come to Malvern and I will make every minute of my time here count.

"Malvern College has definitely made a difference to me."

(House 9 | 2016-21)

There are so many exciting activities and events on offer that there is not enough time to try them all. Of all the hundreds of opportunities available, learning to fly in a training plane and being appointed head of the RAF section of the CCF really stand out, but so does paddle-boarding down the Thames on our Duke of Edinburgh Gold expedition. These are all experiences that will stick with me for life and which would not have been available to me outside of Malvern College. Other highlights of my time at Malvern include an Engineering Society competition in which we had to build a spaghetti bridge between two desks to see whose could take the most weight before cracking and making a radio transmitter from scratch when QinetiQ came into school.

My academic areas are Science and Maths and I am hoping to read Physics at university next year. It's hard to put into words, but I've done things I never thought I could do at Malvern College and I'm pretty sure my grades are higher because of the education and pastoral support I've received here. Instead of large class sizes, there is just a handful of pupils in my Advanced Maths class and our Housemaster is always around to offer help if needed.

How to Support

» Regular Giving

We are grateful to our community of regular donors whose ongoing commitment to supporting talented and deserving children means we can plan with confidence. Contributions quickly add up to make a difference, as the chart below shows.

Suggested monthly contribution

If you are a regular donor and would like to update your gift then please contact us and we will be happy to help.

*Calculated as £2,800 per month x 12 months = £33,600 plus Gift Aid at 25% = £42,000. Annual fees are £40,000 but ideally 105% is raised to cover extras including uniform, books, sports equipment and educational visits.

» Endowment Gifts

A cornerstone gift of £1.5million will allow an Assisted Place to be endowed in perpetuity in your name or possibly in memory of someone close to you.

» Legacy Gifts

When you make the promise of a legacy gift you join our exclusive 1895 Association which was established to recognise and thank our legators with events and special communications throughout the year.

» Leadership Gifts

Would you consider directly sponsoring a pupil through their education at Malvern, either individually or maybe with friends? For two years at Sixth Form the fee commitment is £80,000 or for the full five years it is £200,000. To cover additional expenses such as uniform and field trips, however, we suggest a gift of 105% of fees to remove any barriers for beneficiaries.

» Notes on Tax-Efficient Giving

It is worth remembering that your gift for an Assisted Place is worth an additional 25% to us with Gift Aid if you are a UK taxpayer. Higher-rate taxpayers can also reclaim 20% of the full gift.

A gift in the form of shares can be a tax-efficient way of giving since you can claim both Income Tax relief on the value of the shares and exemption from Capital Gains Tax.

Paul Bowtell

(SH | 1981-86)

Assisted Place recipient and former Chief Financial Officer of a major UK plc

"Without my Assisted Place it would simply have been impossible for me to remain at Malvern College in the Sixth Form and benefit from the countless opportunities on offer.

I have no doubt that my Malvern education, both academic and otherwise, was fundamental to my future business achievements.

It was truly a wonderful experience, the effects of which will stay with me for life, and for which I will always be immensely grateful.

I am proud to be supporting the Malvernian Society Assisted Places Scheme and to be giving a Malvern College pupil the same opportunities that I enjoyed.

I hope you will join me in doing the same."
